

publishes a case study of Shared about how their

from feedback."

"The 2017 L4G

Co-Funder

Experience," ORS Impact

grantees and their foundations can benefit

"This series represents the most comprehensive public discussion feedback for the nonprofit sector

Michael Gordon Voss, Stanford Social around the idea of constituent published to date."

Innovation Review

Accomplishments &

Lessons Learned from the First Three Years,"

ORS Impact

analysis is needed.

The first Shared Insight Gathering, held in Washington, D.C., brings together 140 funders, grantees, and other participants

"Three years after the first White House meeting, we have seen that gathering feedback is not only the right thing to do and the smart interested in learning and field-building around feedback.

thing to do - it is also a feasible thing to do.

Dennis Whittle, Feedback Labs

... leading foundations, so the and momentum building is high."

Janet Camarena, Foundation Center opportunity for peer learning, influence, explore options.

$2-million in grants to 35 organizations selected through a participatory grantmaking initiative exploring power-sharing and policy work around climate change and environmental justice.

Listen4Good welcomes its largest cohort to date,

63 organizations in 14 states programs, Online+ and Premium. Ten funders are sponsoring participants.

participating in Listen4Good's two feedback capacity-building